Saturday Is 4-H Talent Day Here

Saturday will be a big day for Bulloch county's more than 1200 4-H Club boys and girls.

The major event will be the annual talent night program Saturday night, April 7, at 8 p. m. in the Laboratory high school auditorium. During the afternoon, at the Recreation Center, many contests will be held. Starting at 2 p. m., contests in speaking, rifle shooting, tractor maintenance, cooking, sewing, style revue, livestock judging, cotton and its uses will be held.

Winners in these events will represent the county at a district achievement contest in July, probably at Tifton.

Each of the 12 clubs have entries in the talent program. Brookline is entering Irene Groover, Calvin Wilson and J. M. Aycock Jr.; Statesboro has entered Jean Lovett, West Side, Margaret Manes and Billy Joe Fountain; Middleground, Mary Dean West and Douglas Carree; Port, Doris Henderson.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET THURSDAY, APRIL 12—The Statesboro Junior Woman's Club will meet Thursday, April 12, at 3:30 p. m. at the Community Center. Mrs. T. G. Vann, district president from Vidalia, will be the guest speaker. All members are urged to attend.

MUSIC CLUB AND T. C. STUDENTS TO PRESENT PLAY—The Statesboro Music Club and students of Georgia Teachers College have selected Friday, April 20, for a joint showing of "The Mikado," light opera in two acts as the new president, "Duke" Lovett, retiring president, will become chairman of the board of directors. Other officers are Jimmy Redding, vice president; Chatham Alderman, secretary; and Bill Peck, treasurer.

Nine principal characters, a chorus, and an orchestra will appear in the elaborate production being directed by Prof. Jack W. Boucek. The show will represent one of the most outstanding productions ever attempted by the music club, according to Mrs. A. Sidney Dodd Jr., president. Five divisions of the college are collaborating in the production, she said.

Presentations will be in the college at 8:15 p. m. Tickets will cost 50 cents for students and $1.00 for adults.

JEAN MIXON VICTOR IN SPELLING CONTEST—Shelby Jean Mixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Mixon of Port, will represent Bulloch County in the Atlanta Journal's First District Spelling Contest to be held here April 12.

The mayor and council counted the members of the authority. Alfred Dorman was named chairman and will serve for five years from December 5, 1950. Glen Jennings was named to serve two years, S. D. Groover for three years, A. M. Braswell for two years and O. C. Banks for one year.

The authority held its first meeting on January 29, 1951.

H. L. Wingate Talks To Rotary—H. L. Wingate, president of the Georgia Farm Bureau Federation, will speak at the 11:30 a. m. meeting of the Rotary Club Monday night. Wingate will be assisted by Elder H. C. Stubbs. A cordial invitation is extended to the people of Bulloch, Camden and adjoining counties. Dinner will be served on the church grounds Sunday.

Doctors Ask For Emergency Aids—At a meeting of the Medical Staff of the Bulloch County Hospital on Wednesday of last week it was recommended that additional communication facilities and auxiliary electrical power supply be considered for the hospital in the event of emergency situations. The need for a method of evacuation of patients from the hospital in case of fire or disaster was studied, and recommendations were made to the hospital authority. The group pledged their cooperation with the Civilian Defense Authority.

Bookmobile Route Set For April 17-19—Miss Isobel Sorrier, librarian for the Bulloch County Regional Library, this week announces the bookmobile schedule for April 17-19: Tuesday, April 17, Brookline and Pretorius communities; Wednesday, April 18, Middleground school and Lakewood community; Thursday, April 19, West Side school and community.

Flying High, Wide and Handsome, Harry Johnson's Kite Soars to Win—With a kite flying high, wide and handsome, Harry Johnson won the Recreation Center's third annual Kite Contest this week.

Young Johnson's kite was the highest flyer of the more than 100 kites entered by boys and girls in the third through seventh grades.

Frederick Shearouse's kite flew second, John Marshall Jackson's third, Joann Allen's fourth, and Lindsey Hummick's fifth.

The annual kite flying contest was sponsored jointly by the Denmark Candy Company and the Recreation Center.

CORRAS, THUNDERBOLTS WINNERS IN MIDGET LEAGUE—In the Midget baseball league this week the Corras defeated the Thunderbolts.

Red Cap Marsh Wins No-Hitter—In the first game of the Recreation Center's baseball season, Wednesday, April 4, the Red Caps pitched a no-hit no-run game against the Junior League Pilots for a 1 to 0 victory. The Red Cap fielders allowed only two men to reach first base.

On Monday of last week the Indians defeated the Thunderbolts 8 to 7 and the Cobras defeated the Rattlers 4 to 1. Billy Barber is credited with the Indian win and Don Anderson is credited with the Cobra win.

Farmers Buy 28 Bulloch County Purebred Cattle—Bulloch county farmers bought 28 head of the purebred Hereford cattle sold here on Monday of this week.

Despite the high prices paid for the animals, livestock-minded farmers realized that good cattle will make more money for them than scrub.

The 60 purebred cattle auctioned off at the sale averaged nearly $600 per head with 35 graded heifers selling at around $280 each.

The sale held at the Statesboro Livestock Commission Company barn, is the first of a series of purebred cattle sales arranged for Statesboro through W. E. Aycock and Sons of Moultrie.

Mr. Aycock and his sons, Bill and Frank, have been holding similar sales at Moultrie for many years. They plan to hold three or four sales here each year in the future.

Most of the cattle offered here Monday were from Georgia breeders with a few from Texas and a few from Florida.

The greater number of the cattle were sold to farmers of Bulloch, Screven, Effingham, Camden, Emanuel, and Burke.

Those in Bulloch to buy are Alfred Dorman, S. J. Proctor, Henry S. Blitch, Zach Smith, J. E. Hodges, W. A. Bowen, Fred H. Smith, Joe Boone, Bruce Groover, Paul Groover, Dan R. Groover, Clate Mikell, John H. Brannen and J. B. Altman.

'The Mikado' Set For Fri., April 20—Five divisions of the college will collaborate in presenting "The Mikado," light opera by W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan, at Georgia Teachers College on Friday night, April 20.

Prof. Jack W. Boucek is directing the production, which takes in music, arts, health-physical education, and language divisions and the laboratory schools. The Statesboro Music Club is co-sponsor.

Miss Betty Hart of Macon and Billy Moore of Waycross, both sophomores, are the leading characters. Other students who will play principal parts are Misses Ann Trice of Greenville, Ala., and Gay Kimbrough of Red Oak, Bobby Hummick of Tifton, and Richard (Sonny) Hawkins of Albany.

Dana M. King Jr., college band director, plays the Mikado. Leading performers from Statesboro are Mrs. V. F. Agan and Al Sultheland. A chorus of 40 and an orchestra will also include town participants.

The show will be staged at 8:15 p. m. in the college auditorium. Tickets will cost 50 cents for students and one dollar for adults.

VIDALIA, DARIEN TO DEFEND TITLES IN LITERARY MEET—Vidalia in Class "B" and Darien in Class "C" will defend titles in the First District High School Literary Meet at Georgia Teachers College tomorrow. The competition usually draws about 80 students from the surrounding area.

The public is cordially invited to hear these recitals.

PATTY BANKS ON TV—Miss Patty Banks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Banks and a student at Wesleyan College in Macon, was scheduled to appear on WSB-TV this morning in a speech correction telecast.

INDIANS IN AN EXTRA INNING GAME—In an extra inning game, 7 to 6, with Don Anderson on the mound, Ben Hagins' single accounted for the winning run.

The Thunderbolts loosed lightning on the Rattlers to pile up a 20 to 4 doubling with John Dekle throwing the bolts for the Thunderbolts. Dennis DeLoach and John Wheelch were the only Rattlers to get hits.

JUNIOR BULLDOGS PICK PILOTS—In the Junior league the Bulldogs defeated the Pilots, 13 to 6, with Buddy Pretorius the winning pitcher. Rain halted the game after five innings but it was counted under the seven-inning regulation.

Red Cap Marsh Wins No-Hitter—In the first game of the Recreation Center's baseball season, Wednesday, April 4, the Red Caps pitched a no-hit no-run game against the Junior League Pilots for a 1 to 0 victory. The Red Cap fielders allowed only two men to reach first base.

Formula For Honest Elections

THE THING is so simple that we're sure it'll never be accepted.

In one sweeping it would wipe out all the finagling, all the deals, all the crookedness, all the corruption that accompany our elections, from the lowest levels to the highest levels.

It would leave those who would seek public office for personal gains, for personal greed; those who would become the front for pressure groups, for group interests, dangling from limbs with little ground under their feet.

It would give our government back to the people to whom it belongs by right of citizenship.

And, oh, would that it could be implemented so that honesty in our elections becomes the rule, rather than the exception.

At a recent meeting of the Statesboro Rotary Club, Dr. Marvin Pittman submitted a simple procedure for insuring honest elections in this great nation of ours.

It's that simple that it would frighten the professional statesman, the petty politician, the ward heeler, the fixer, the dealer, the whole kit and kaboodle of them, and send them scurrying to their holes to figure out a way to beat it.

Dr. Pittman believes that WE, THE PEOPLE must become one hundred per cent responsible for all elections.

To effect this he suggests that the whole public must pay the bill for all political campaign. (We can hear the howling going up from every politician in Georgia).

The public must write the rules and enforce them. (Oh my, the screaming becomes louder).

No candidate must be expected or allowed to pay any part of the campaign expense. Dr. Pittman thinks that it is enough that the candidate contributes his candidacy.

No private interest must be allowed to contribute to a campaign. To do so must be recognized as a violation of law and bear a heavy penalty. (That wailing comes from the special interest boys).

Candidates must have definite platforms and present and defend them entirely and only according to the rules. To do otherwise would disqualify him as a candidate.

Here Dr. Pittman referred to the system of campaigning in South Carolina, where all the candidates move together from community to community, speaking from the same platform at the same time.

The principles and procedure for holding elections must become universal—city, county, state, and national.

Dr. Pittman's conclusion is that using such principles and such procedure "would go far toward removing corruption from politics and encourage honest citizens to seek office, help them to remain honest, and give us a truly democratic government."

Before giving the Rotarians his simple plan for honesty in elections he prepared them for it with: "The public seems shocked over the revelations of corruption in politics made by the Kefauver Committee. Corruption in politics is nothing new. It has merely come to a natural stage of development."

"In the past, politics has been controlled by somewhat more respectable powers special interest, railroads, highways, liquor interests, organized reputable respectables, school teachers, and others."

"So, before we get too much excited over the tie-up between the organized gamblers, Murder, Inc., we should realize that they are the natural and inevitable result of our system of conducting elections."

"It is WE, not THEY, who are primarily to blame for the situation."

"You and I and EVERYONE else knows that a truly honest and fair election is the exception, not the rule. This is true because:

"1. Elections have become too expensive for any candidate to bear. He, therefore, looks for 'an angel' to pay the bill. All such angels are devils camouflaged with angel wings."

"2. These angels insist upon 'anonymity.' In doing so, they make intellectual purgers of themselves, of the candidates, and the people who serve as their agents."

"Our present system of conducting elections corrupts otherwise honest men when they become candidates. It prostitutes business. It deceives and disgusts the public who want honest elections. It destroys our faith in the so-called democratic process."

Then, just before Dr. Pittman revealed his simple plan, he said: "The Kefauver Committee has merely revealed in a dramatic form what all of us knew already—that politics, elections, as now conducted, are dishonest and degrading."

"The real question then is: What are we going to do about it?"

And then he let the Rotarians have it.

The thing intrigues us. We would like to see it in operation—if only on a local level.

But for it to work the election must become everybody's job. Not just the "boys" working quietly out in the districts, putting out "the money" and making "the deals" where they think it does the most good.

WE, THE PEOPLE must be one hundred per cent responsible for the elections.

And it'll work.

How We Learn Secrets of Prayer And Meditation

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

"THE CHURCH has in her keeping the secrets of prayer and meditation and communion with Christ. Or that perhaps she has kept them in the lexicon of orthodoxy." From Hungry Sheep. This phrase is copied from Peter Marshall's book, "Mr. Jones Meets the Master."

How true that statement is we can only realize after much serious consideration. Have we as Christians learned the secrets of prayer and meditation with the risen Christ? Or have we been so busy with using Presbyterians, Baptists, Methodists, Primitive Baptists, Episcopalians or Catholics that we haven't had enough time for meditation and communion with Christ? Have you ever wondered what church Christ would feel at home in? He would feel like a stranger in all of them.

Could it be that we are concerned about standing, sitting or kneeling to pray rather than what we are doing? Or that we baptize with water or in water rather than with the Holy Ghost? Have we been so busy denouncing each other that we forgot to pray for one another? Have we forgotten that our judgment is not only unnecessary but dangerous?

What could be accomplished through the various branches of God's Church is undreamed of if we could only forget our differences and remember that we have God in common.

We must have our convictions but let us be sure that they are strictly for God and His work, and His living Church.

It has never seemed wrong to me that the different groups are divisions because in smaller groups people can work together and grow to understand one another. By having different groups the individual has the choice of choosing a formal or informal service. But does it seem right when we allow our various differences to hinder the progress of the Kingdom of God? Or is it right for any individual church to assume that it is the only church? Is it right for us to dwell on outward rites that were intended to symbolize something in our souls?

It is my own personal joy to go to the church of my own choosing on the Sabbath and to be concerned with its welfare throughout the whole week, but I pray that I will not be known as a Presbyterian instead of a Christian.

Andrew Murray said, "The man who prays for himself will not find it easy to be in the right attitude toward God. But where the heart is filled with fervent love to others, prayer will continually rise to God for those whom we love, and even for those with whom we do not agree. . . . If you wish your love to grow and increase, forget yourself and pray, pray earnestly for God's children and His Church."

And then he let the Rotarians have it.

The thing intrigues us. We would like to see it in operation—if only on a local level.

But for it to work the election must become everybody's job. Not just the "boys" working quietly out in the districts, putting out "the money" and making "the deals" where they think it does the most good.

WE, THE PEOPLE must be one hundred per cent responsible for the elections.

And it'll work.

WE GO AVISITING

We went visiting Sunday afternoon.

Now when some people go avising they come home with a paper sack full of garden peas, a batch of butterbeans, a shoe box of okra, a dozen ears of corn, a quart of new syrup, a watermelon, or a half dozen links of sausage and some "fresh"—in season.

Now others go avising and come home with a couple dozen daffodil bulbs, a rose cutting, a little crepe myrtle tree, or a newspaper spread of petunia plants or poppies—something for the yard.

Last Sunday we went to see Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hodges, and Mrs. Claude McKinnon, who call her "Claude", out on the Old River Road.

It is in that section that Bulloch County's roots first found security. Sitting in the everyday living room in the Hodges home we listened to Claude McKinnon and Susan Hodges tell of the first settlers along the old River Road. We held in our hands records of New Hope Church dating back to 1816. We marveled at the fine handwriting of Eli Kennedy, as he kept the records of the church's quarterly conferences.

And when we left we had in the back of our car four asparagus trees, one crepe myrtle, and a white Banksia rose root.

Our friend and neighbor, Norman Chalker, editor of the Sylvan, in Telephone takes a crack at a catfish stew recipe which appeared in a recent issue of the Atlanta Journal-Constitution.

He writes:

WANT TO BE A CATFISH KING?

"People who are accustomed to the Southeast Georgia version of catfish stew are probably having acute indigestion this week. They are if they read an article in last week's Journal-Constitution. Magazine which gave a recipe for catfish stew unlike anything ever heard of in this section of the state.

We don't propose to get into an argument about the proper method of preparing the dish, but the article did put us to thinking about the possibilities of cashing in on the catfish craze.

So far as we know there is no eating establishment in this county which features catfish stew and it is not located on a main highway.

Seems to us someone is missing a good bet not to feature the dish and advertise it. Perhaps it would attract some of the tourists who like to investigate unusual dishes which are specialties in the section of the country they visit.

Most famous eating places have become famous because of a special dish which is served every day in the year. With proper exploitation, catfish stew could make somebody famous.

And we yearn for the days when the Preston-Tomlinson Muldrow Battle—remember when they fought it out on the banks of the Ogeechee to determine who made the better catfish muldrow?

Three things seem to me outstanding and worth mentioning. I am grateful for the opportunity to learn that you have given Germany had told us. I was somewhat skeptical, because some of them showed a kind of missionary zeal and super-salesmanship that always makes me suspicious.

I was tempted to draw comparisons that would be favorable to my country. Soon, however, I realized how stupid it is to try to give yourself a boost in such a snobbish way. There was no hate or contempt for my nation that would have made it necessary to defend it.

So I learned to look at things objectively to see them in their setting and proper perspective. I tried to find out why they are different, aware of the fact that I see so much clearer now as the broadering of the horizon that is the outcome of living with and other people in another world. I think that it is the only way to learn and live.

German Student Expresses Thanks; Gives His Impressions of America

EDITOR'S NOTE—Just before

German student received a diploma from Georgia Teachers College here after spending a year in the college under the sponsorship of the Georgia Rotary Club. Kendall Weisiger, prominent Atlanta businessman, was the guiding spirit behind the club's sponsorship of the German youth who attended schools in this state. Just before he left to return to his home in Germany, young Brossman wrote a letter to Mr. Weisiger. Last week it was published in the college newspaper, The Georgia Echo. With the paper's permission we reprint it here.

Another distinct chapter in my life is coming to its close. And it is certainly an important one. It seems appropriate and natural to me to pass it in review and try to summarize what it has contributed to my personal growth. My sponsors have certainly a right to know what this year has meant to me and I know that they are interested to hear what I shall take home with me to Germany.

Work On New Brooklet Methodist Church Is Progressing Rapidly

By MRS. JOHN A. ROBERTSON

Work on the new Methodist Church is progressing rapidly. The building is of brick and is located on the lot with the new parsonage, and fronts on Parker avenue. At the church service on Sunday morning, J. H. Wyatt, chairman of the building committee, made a financial report.

TO ATTEND PIANO RECITAL

Mrs. Felix Parrish will go to Savannah Friday night to attend the piano recital of her niece, Linda and Judy Warnock, young daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Warnock. Others who will attend the recital from Brooklet are Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Alderman, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Mrs. J. C. Prentiss, and others. The recital will be given in the parlors of Wesley Memorial Methodist Church in Savannah. These young girls are very talented pianists. Linda Warnock is only 14 years old and her sister, Judy, is 10. They were the former Miss Mary Eva Alderman of Brooklet.

W. S. C. S. HOLDS MEETING

Bill Holloway, Statesboro Florist, Talks to Denmark Farm Bureau

Flowers should be arranged in a plain vase or container so as not to detract from the beauty of the flowers, Bill Holloway, owner and manager of the Statesboro Floral Shop, told members of Denmark Farm Bureau Tuesday night.

In what W. W. Jones, president of the Denmark organization, termed the most colorful speech he had ever heard, Mr. Holloway pointed out and demonstrated the various methods of preparing bouquets.

Some suggestions made by Mr. Holloway included the grouping of spike flowers, such as gladioli, around the edge of the container, grouping according to color, putting round flowers in the center, putting each flower show by not letting too many in container; use of odd number of flowers in vase; when putting flowers in a pitcher tall stems should be on handle side and short ones at mouth to give appearance of flowers pouring out.

Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Hood of Savannah were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lamb.

Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Simmons and Dent visited relatives in Atlanta and Gainesville, Florida, for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Durden and family of Savannah spent last week end with Mrs. J. A. Denmark.

The Bulloch Herald, Thursday, April 12, 1951

People of Bulloch county should be proud of their soil and standard of living, he pointed out in discussing the rocks and poor soil with which his people had to contend.

Mr. Higa expressed his love for the United States and long to remain here, but stated he owed it to his family and his people to return to Okinawa in two months to help in any way possible to reach the standards of living he had found here.

The Ivanhoe group kept Mr. Higa on the floor answering questions about his homeland for some two hours.

Following an oyster supper on Thursday night, the Middleground group discussed the place of a permanent pasture in the farm program and had a motion picture on pasture as a part of the program.

Although practically every farm in the community now has a small permanent pasture, it was the opinion of the group that more permanent grazing was needed.

Mansoni Higa, Okinawa student at Georgia Teachers College, discussed the practice of living and agricultural practices on the island.
